TELSTAR SOCCER CAPTAIN ANNOUNCED AS W. MAINE "C" ALL-STAR TEAM MEMBER

Telstar soccer team captain Shawn Smith has been named to the Western Maine Class C, All-Star team.

Soccer Coach Robert Remington announced the honor at last night's athletic awards ceremony in the high school auditorium.

Shawn was as surprised and delighted as everyone else, since he had not heard the news until his coach announced it.

Mr. Remington termed Shawn, "Undoubtedly, the best captain of any team I've coached. He leads by example."

THANKSGIVING EVE SERVICE

Area churches will once again cooperate in a Service of Thanksgiving, to be held at the Bethel United Methodist Church Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. Planned by members of the Bethel Area Clergy Association, the service will be led by lay people and ministers from several churches. An offering will be taken, to be used for the BACA Scholarship and for Ethiopian hunger relief.

All people are invited to attend this worship service, and join in Praising God. A time of fellowship will follow the worship and child care will be provided.

Veterans Day observed

Aside from schools, banks, post offices and some stores being closed Monday, there was little to remind people that Monday was Veterans Day.

Of course, in reality Monday was not Veterans Day, but just the day picked by the government in order to make a three-day week end. Veterans Day was originally Nov. 11, Armistice Day, the day the shooting stopped in The Great War.

In Locke Mills, at the Jackson-Silver Legion Post, the day was still commemorated on Nov. 11, Sunday. And whereas The Great War—known originally as the war to end all wars—has become better known as World War I and has been succeeded by World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War, the aging veterans in Locke Mills recalled their former service and their departed comrades.

Past Department Commander John Howe, now of Southwest Harbor but originally from Bryant Pond, exhorted the young people in the audience—mostly Boy Scouts and Telstar band members—to be prepared to fight in defense of America if they were ever called upon to do so.

And Past Commander Charles Mason, encouraged his own generation to do so.

M.S.A.D. #44 DIRECTORS MEET Marathon session as board tackles discipline issues

Discipline was on the minds of the Telstar administrators as they appeared before the SAD 44 Board of Directors Monday evening of this week. The outcome was expulsion for one student and six hours of manual labor at the school for two others.

The board approved, on a 9-7 vote, the suggestion of the administration that a 17-year-old junior be expelled for supplying another student with marijuana. The student may apply for readmission to the school following completion of sessions with a substance abuse counselor. The matter is also a criminal case and will be going to court next week.

On a 14-1 vote, the board approved the request of the administration to have two students—one a 16-year-old 10th grader and the other a 15-year-old 9th grader—perform six hours of manual labor at the school. The board found the two students guilty of unauthorized possession of school property.

Contel initiates computerized phone service

The new, computerized phone system went into effect at 11:30 p.m. last Friday night, affecting the service of 2,000 customers in the greater Bethel area. Contel officials said the changeover from the old mechanical switching system went smoothly, although they did say they had been getting some complaints. They also noted that the computer that keeps track of the length and destination of calls broke down for a while over the weekend. But don't think that you thereby got a few free calls—there is a back-up system.

The mechanical system was installed in 1957, while the local phone exchange was still owned by Eugene Van Den Kerckhoven and operated out of his house on Elm Street—the site of the present Contel office. That mechanical system replaced the hand-crank magneto system that had grown up piecemeal since 1907, according to Ernest H. Perkins, of Mason Street, Bethel, who worked for the phone company from 1946 (under Van Den Kerckhoven) until 1980 (under Contel, which purchased the local exchange in 1965).

Contel's director of operations in western Maine, William Benner, said the upgraded equipment in the Bethel area is a sign of what will happen throughout Contel's 48 exchanges in Maine. The equipment change involved the installation of $2 million worth of new equipment and lines in Bethel, West Bethel, North Norway and Locke Mills. In the Bethel office, the new computer cards and control units take up just one-fifth of one of the rooms in the Elm Street building, whereas the mechanical switching equipment took up an entire room. And the new equipment makes not a sound, except for the computer printer, compared to the old system's constant clicking and clacking.

RETIRED PHONE COMPANY EMPLOYEE Ernest Perkins, of Mason Street, tries out the new computerized circuitry in Contel's Elm Street building, which went into operation over the weekend. Despite some snags in service, phone company officials are proud of the state-of-the-art system, which requires only about one-fifth the space of the old mechanical system.

Safety Tip of the Week

Thanksgiving is quickly approaching. The preparation of the traditional turkey is looked forward to with great delight. But please remember some food preparation tips to make it safe for your family. Salmonella, food poisoning, can grow easily in a turkey left at room temperature to thaw out. The recently thawed turkey should not be put in the oven the night before for the oven to automatically start in the middle of the night. It is much safer to set your own alarm, remove the turkey from the refrigerator, and turn on the oven manually. Also turkey left-overs taste so good, but please refrigerate as soon after the meal as possible. No one wants to be sick after the delicious meal so many of us are looking forward to.

Thankfulness

I am grateful to the Power that in reverence lifts my eyes To the beauty of a bird-flock Hanging high in autumn skies.

I am thankful to the Maker For the simple soul of me That is stirred by simple subjects

Like a sunset or a tree, from "Lost Hours" by Stanley Foss Bartlett

The leaves are all gone at last, except for the beeches and oaks. Even my weeping willow has at last given up summer for fall.

The tamaracks are like bronze flames. They turn this beautiful tan color at this time, then unlike other conifers shed all their needles and stand windswept and naked for the winter.

Next spring these tough and sturdy trees will come to blossom in delicate color scales of yellow and scarlet. Then in a few weeks there will appear light-green needles, shimmering and soft. They are also known as the larch and hackmatack. Here is our section we find them in the bog lands near Mud Pond. There is also a stand of them in one section on Patch Mountain. I like their newness when they are as soft as a kitten's fur.

I have always enjoyed the wilderness with its beauty. It has solitude and distance, mountains, smell of flowers and forest, rushing streams. Much of this was brought back to me when my niece took me into Evans Notch this fall. Some years ago I often traveled here with my hiking pals. Here is located Wild River, which Ruth once told me was sometimes called "a child of the mountains."

But it can change rapidly during certain times when heavy showers strike. At no time have I seen it as a fierce torrent. It has always been gentle and mild for me.

Not far from the entrance to this Wild River Valley, on the east is "The Roost" so called, with an elevation of 1,300 feet, which we climbed several times. Pushing on through the Notch we came to the double peaked summit called East

Royce and West Royce with the Maine and New Hampshire line running between its crests. The slopes look very rugged and the summits rounded. Ruth and I often spoke of climbing one or both of them for the view must be spectacular. But we never realized this.

Opposite Mt. Royce lies Speckle Mountain. We did climb this and it was here that we missed a turn in our trail which would have taken us nearer to the car. We were not lost but delayed in our time reaching home, which did cause a bit of concern there. These two mountains, Speckle and Royce, are guards over Evans Notch which lies between them.

There are many other trails and places of interest off the Notch road. Those we hiked, other than mentioned, were Spruce Hill, Haystack Notch Trail, Caribou, a favorite of mine, Blueberry Ridge, Laughing Lion Trail.

On this fall's trip we visited Basin Pond, a beautiful place surrounded with all the fall colors. This brought back the yesterdays and a trip on Basin Trail, when it became cold and began to snow.

Recalling, these places bring to mind that the most important living thing in any forest is its trees and vegetation. To move among them is to be in another world for one finds the mystery of Nature, harmony, serenity, and a sense of life and peace.

Letters to the Editor

Nov. 9, 1984

To the Editor:

An article in the Bethel Citizen Nov. 1, 1984, quoted retiring Town Manager, William Judson, as saying that the growth at the Sunday River Skiway would likely increase the demands on the services that the Town of Bethel provides (the Town of Bethel provides the Town of Newry (Ambulance and Fire Protection) but the taxes would go to the Town of Newry. However, since the fees paid by the Town of Newry are based, as of course they should be, on the number of calls, this should not be a financial burden to the Town of Bethel.

Since the M.S.A.D. 44 assessments to each town are based upon State Valuations, the increased valuation at the Skiway would increase Newry's percentage from 8.9% to 11% using the 1985 State Valuations and a $3,000,000 increase at the Skiway. This would mean an increase of approximately $24,250 for Newry and a decrease of approximately $9,000 for Bethel for the calendar year 1984. These are projected figures, since the increase has not taken effect yet, but I feel that they are reasonably accurate.

Newry's tax rate for 1984 was .0114 ($11.40 per thousand valuation). The $3,000,000 increase in valuation, if it had been in effect this year, would have dropped the rate to .09. However, the increase in the M.S.A.D. 44 assessment would have raised it back to .0108, or a net decrease to Newry's taxpayers of 60 cents per $1,000 valuation Bethel would pay about $9,000 less in the school assessment for the calendar year 1984, had these figures (the increase in the Skiway) been in effect this year. Further the increase at Sunday River should mean additional business for Bethel's businesses. Therefore, I feel that the expansion at Sunday River should be a benefit, not a deficit to Bethel.

Sincerely,
Roger H. Hanscom
Selectman, Newry

To the Editor:

I would like to explain my abstaining vote at the Monday, Nov. 5, selectmen's meeting regarding hiring an interim town manager. The chairman of the board informed us that there was someone available to fill the position but did not give any definitive additional information. I did not feel that I could, under the circumstances, cast a knowledgeable vote, therefore I abstained. We met Wednesday evening (Nov. 7) with Mr. Dewey Thayer. I was very favorably impressed with both his background and presence. I feel we are very fortunate to have his help during this transition period. The vote taken Wednesday evening was (all in favor) of retaining his services.

Patricia C. Dooen

FROM THE bethel town office

The Board of Selectmen met in special session Monday evening, Nov. 12, in the town office meeting room to hammer out a policy for the Bethel Police Department. Members of the Community Safety and Law Enforcement Committee, who have been working on the problem since July 1983, and representatives of the Bethel Police Department contributed suggestions and comments during the meeting.

After reviewing draft proposals, the board enacted the following police policy: "Given limitations of resources (i.e. manpower, funding, etc.) that exists at any given time, it is the policy objective for the Bethel Police Department to provide effective and efficient protection service to the citizens of Bethel and their property, public and private, using current techniques and technology."

It is the intention of the Police Department personnel headed by Police Chief Bob Stearns, to construct a set of police procedures that will support and implement the overall goal set by the selectmen. According to police spokesman Norm Clanton, a first draft of these procedures could be presented to the interim town manager in three or four weeks.

The Board of Selectmen will meet in regular session, Monday, Nov. 19, at 7 p.m., in the town office meeting room.

COLLECTING SIGNATURES ON NUCLEAR WASTE REFERENDUM PETITIONS

Bethel citizens are concerned about the prospect of storing nuclear waste in the state and want a say in deciding how and where this low-level waste will be stored.

At last week's general election, volunteers for the Maine Nuclear Referendum Committee were collecting signatures in a petition drive to get a referendum question on a state ballot.

Bethel Coordinator Stan Howe said 600 signatures were collected at the fire station polling place on Tuesday, Nov. 6. During the June primary, 250 other signatures were gathered.

Statewide, the number of signatures collected Nov. 6 was 30,000, and the total number so far collected is 37,000. In order to get the referendum question on the ballot, 46,000 signatures are needed and a petition drive will be conducted at shopping centers Thanksgiving weekend in an effort to gain the additional signatures, according to the committee spokesperson.

The proposed referendum question would read: "Do you want the right to vote for or against any plan to store or dispose of low level radioactive waste?"

The local petition drive on election day was conducted by Neva Coolidge, Donald Eddy, Cynthia Gotjen, Connie St. Pierre and Emily Saunders.

DEMOCRATIC DOINGS

The Bethel Democratic Committee concluded an active fall campaign season on November 7, celebrating the re-election of State Representative Jeff Mills to the legislature. The headquarters on Main Street was open a total of 90 hours with 15 individuals volunteering their time to assist with coverage and work on the many projects involved in the campaign. Highlights of the fall season included the successful public supper held on Nov. 3 which was attended by 100 people. U. S. Senator George Mitchell was a special guest at the supper which was held to raise funds for the Mills campaign. Candidates in attendance were Senator Ed Erwin, Rep. Phyllis Erwin, Rep. Francis Perry, and Richard Adams, as well as Jeff Mills. In his remarks Senator Mitchell emphasized that an elected official must represent all the people of the constituency, praising Rep. Mills for his record of accomplishment. He relayed the good wishes of Governor Joe Brennan who was unable to be present because of a previous commitment to attend a fundraiser for a Pittsfield legislator.

Final activities of the campaign included a door-to-door delivery of materials on the week end of Nov. 3 in Bethel, Union, Newry, Hanover, Byron, Avon, and Watford. Participating in this were Rep. Mills, Irene Mills, Paul McGuire, Cathy Newell, Shirley

SMALL WOODLAND OWNERS STUDY BIOMASS

The Western Maine Chapter of Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine (SWOAM) will, for their November meeting, get a current update on the potential of burning their own fuelwood for automatic heat in their homes. They will discuss the theories, economics and state of the art equipment for residential biomass, and will visit three locations where this theory has been put into practice. This is a follow-up of a very popular meeting over a year ago conducted by Dr. Norman Smith of UMO on the same subject. Dr. Smith and Albert Soule, president of SWOAM, W. Me. chapter, will conduct the meeting.

The members will meet at the South Paris Branch of the Norway Savings Bank, Market Square, South Paris, at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 17, and should be on time, as a busy morning is scheduled. Following the meeting in the bank community room, the group will visit one home in South Paris and one in Oxford, and a repair garage in South Paris. Each of the three SWOAM members have approached the burning and storing of wood chips a bit differently. Car pooling from Market Square to the three locations will be in order.

CHAMBER HOLDS MONTHLY MEMBERSHIP MEETING

A local foundation has purchased Ed Quinn's Railroadiana, and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is looking for a building in which to establish the museum, which contains a wealth of memorabilia of railroads and their links to Bethel.

Chamber of Commerce President Rick Whitney informed the membership at their meeting Tuesday night at the Dr. Moses Mason House that Jim Delamater, a trustee of the local foundation—whose name he declined to divulge—arranged the purchase of the assets of the museum from Mr. Quinn who has operated it for a number of years at his site off Rte. 2 on the Bog Road, in Gilead.

A popular stopping place for out-of-town railroad buffs and for local school children as well, the Railroadiana Museum attracted around 1,000 people during the summer months it was open. Mr. Whitney told the chamber, He said with a good location and proper promotion it could attract many more people, who would otherwise drive along Rte. 2 to New Hampshire or along Rte. 26 to South Paris without ever stopping in Bethel.

"With a little push it could become a real attraction," Mr. Whitney said. "It will be a Bethel railroad museum."

The chamber is searching for a building, or portion of a building, at least 40 by 50 feet, in which to establish the museum. Mr. Whitney said he would also like to hear from anyone willing to take charge of organizing and operating the museum.

In other chamber business, Bill Riley, who organized the chamber's participation in the Boston Ski Show last weekend, termed the effort there successful. Ten chamber members manned a Bethel booth at the show, and distributed local promotional materials to many of the 20,000 skiers who attended the show. Mr. Riley reported that he and the others distributed 3,500 of The Bethel Citizen's winter recreation special sections. "I do think we attained our objective," he said. "We put the materials in the hands of the people who need them—skiers." He said he looked in the trash barrels after the show to see if the color tabloids had been discarded. "I didn't see any in there, so hopefully they took them home and will study them."

Ginger Kelly was another member who helped out with the booth. "It was certainly worthwhile," she said. The chamber did not have to pay the usual $500 fee for the booth. Instead, members donated trade items valued at over $2,000.

"Mac" MacMunn informed the group that the money-saving coupons being prepared by the chamber will be printed in The Citizen in a couple of weeks. The coupons will offer discounts by participating merchants to induce local shoppers to do more of their shopping locally. In addition to appearing in The Citizen, the coupons will be printed separately for distribution in area commercial establishments. Contact Mr. MacMunn or Joan Putnam if you want to have a coupon ad.

The chamber is also involved with printing a new Bethel brochure to send to inquiring persons from out of town who write in for information on the Bethel area. Robin Zinchuk, who is in charge of compiling the ads and other materials for the brochure, urged all advertisers to get their ads in as soon as possible. The chamber will have 20,000 copies of the brochure printed. For further information call Ms. Zinchuk at the Chapman Inn.

KEEP THE BLOOD FLOWING

More than half a million units of blood were needed by hospitals and health care facilities in the northeast region (Maine and Massachusetts) last year.

Nineteen percent of this is used in the treatment of cancer and another 16% for people with heart disease.

The American Red Cross and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce invite you to give the gift of life and continue the support Bethel has shown in the past.

The Red Cross blood drive will visit the West Parish Congregational Church, on Church Street, the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 26, from two until seven o'clock.

If for some reason you can not give, wish to help contact Dee-Dee Kellogg at 824-2008.

The Red Cross supplies all but two hospitals in the state with whatever blood or blood products they require. Won't you help keep the blood flowing?

The bride is the daughter of the late Shirley Thrasher, Clearwater, and Charles Raines of Benton, Tenn.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bodwell of Bethel. The bride's twin sister, Charlene, was her maid of honor, and William Merrill, friend of the groom, was the best man.

Chip Roberts and Moira Connors, friends of the couple, sang "One Hand, One Heart" and "I Celebrate Our Love."

Shirlene is a graduate of Countryside High School and is attending Mirror Lake Beauty Culture School, St. Petersburg.

OXFORD POMONA

Oxford Pomona was hosted by Norway Grange Tuesday, Nov. 6. As this was Past Master and Past Lecturers' night the chairs were filled with visiting officers, the Master being Stephen Verrill.

Richard Felt reported on the bus trip to Portland on Nov. 37. With winter just around the corner, the North Oxford Health & Service Council would like to expand the program to help even more elderly or homebound people. However, to assure the continued smooth running of the program, we are seeking additional callers. The time commitment is minimal — only 10-15 minutes a day — it can be done from home or even possibly work, and the reward of knowing you are helping someone within your community is great.

If you are interested in volunteering for the program please call Jean Bass at 824-2653 or Mary Brown at 824-3138.

CONSIDERATE NEIGHBOR HELPS INJURED MOTORIST

When Mark Bean ran off Route 5 near Mill Hill at 3:30 a.m. Sunday morning, Ken Pease, who lives on the Songo Pond Road was in the midst of a deep slumber, but he responded quickly to the knock on his door.

There he saw the shaken and bleeding Mr. Bean, his face a mess from having hit the windshield. Mr. Pease didn't ask any questions, just invited in the unexpected caller, told him to get his face washed and asked him if he could use some coffee. He could.

Mr. Bean was grateful to the Good Samaritan, noting that not many people would have been so hospitable to a bleeding stranger in the middle of the night.

Police officer Norm Clanton was called to investigate the accident, which Mr. Bean said occurred when he fell asleep at the wheel, and Jeff Gaudreau hauled off the 2-door, 1970 Ford Maverick, which was totaled.

NBC-TV CAMERA CREW EXPECTED IN TOWN

An NBC-TV camera crew is expected in town today to film a story about Arn Chorn, a Cambodian refugee who is a senior at Gould Academy. The popular student was recently the subject of an article in the New York Times magazine and last week was in New York City speaking to world leaders about the plight of the Cambodian people.

The proposal put forward by the Forest Service is one of five alternatives under review. This preferred alternative "provides for a wide range of recreation opportunities and more intensive timber management," the Forest Service statement says.

The Forest Service distributed abstracts of the draft environmental impact statement (DEIS) to two dozen interested local parties last week. The agency will hold an informational meeting at the Evans Notch Ranger District headquarters in Bethel on Wednesday, Nov. 28, 1-8 p.m.

On Feb. 5, the Forest Service will hold an open forum to hear comments on the proposed management changes. The hearing will be at Telstar Auditorium, 7-10 p.m.

For a copy of the abstract of the DEIS, or to comment in writing on the plan, write: Michael B. Hathaway, forest supervisor, White Mountain National Forest, P. O. Box 638, Laconia, N. H., 03247.

MT. ABRAM/SUNDAY RIVER FOLKS PLEASED TO SEE SNOW FLURRIES

The folks at Mt. Abram and Sunday River Skiway were awfully pleased to see the brief flurries this week. Sunday River hopes to be open for the Thanksgiving weekend. Owner Les Otten was preparing to start the snowmaking machines this weekend.

This was not an easy task, either. Because of the long drought, there wasn't enough water in the skiway's retention pond to feed the snowguns. Therefore Les had to lay over 5,000 feet of pipe from the pond to the Sunday River. He will use the water from the river to supply the pond, and then pump from the pond to the snowguns. The distance to lift the water from the river to the pond is about 350 feet, before the long push up the mountain.

FROM THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER

A telephone reassurance program, developed by the Northern Oxford Health & Service Council in the spring, has helped a number of shut-ins and has offered solace to friends and relatives of those who are unable to leave their homes.

The purpose of the program is to check-in daily, by telephone, at a regular time to make sure the person is well and has not fallen or become ill. If the caller does not receive an answer, a system to check on the homebound person is put into place to offer help in case of an illness or accident.

The program has run very smoothly with little time commitment on any one person's part. With winter just around the corner, the North Oxford Health & Service Council would like to expand the program to help even more elderly or homebound people. However, to assure the continued smooth running of the program, we are seeking additional callers. The time commitment is minimal — only 10-15 minutes a day — it can be done from home or even possibly work, and the reward of knowing you are helping someone within your community is great.

If you are interested in volunteering for the program please call Jean Bass at 824-2653 or Mary Brown at 824-3138.

THIS WEEK AT THE MOSES MASON HOUSE

Bethel readers will be interested to learn of the appearance of a new book which features several photographs of Bethel buildings and people in the period 1850 to 1900. There are also descriptions of Bethel farm buildings and an in-depth look at the Foster farm in East Bethel as it operated in the 19th century.

Written by Thomas C. Hubka, Associate Professor of Architecture at the University of Oregon, the book is titled "Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn: The Connected Farm Buildings of New England," published by the University Press of New England in Hanover, N.H. Professor Hubka has produced an engaging study of New England's rural architecture, attempting to answer the seemingly perennial question of why New England farm buildings, constructed in the latter half of the 19th century were often connected. He also points out that while this phenomenon is apparently true of most of New England it is not common in the areas of the American midwest where many New Englanders migrated, suggesting perhaps that climatic conditions were not paramount in shaping building styles. The title of this book is taken from a children's song of the late 19th century and is particularly appropriate to the book's subject.

Hubka's study is skillfully organized into three parts. The first provides an instructive overview of the nature of connected farm buildings; the second contains the main body of the text dealing with the construction, usage and changing fashions over time; the third deals with the confounding question of why they were built. The book is extensively illustrated with sketches by the author, copies of prints from agricultural periodicals of the 19th century and a wide selection of photographs (several from the collection of the Bethel Historical Society) both contemporary and from the 1860s through the turn of the century. It also contains a wealth of documentation with an extensive bibliography and a useful glossary of terms, and index.

The author has faced a complex problem of architecture interpreted through a keen awareness of ethnology and popular culture in the 19th century. He has traced the development of farm buildings from the 18th century to the early years of the 20th. His particular focus has been south/southwestern Maine and eastern New Hampshire but New England references (particularly northern) appear throughout the work. It is his contention documented by several case studies including ones in North Yarmouth, Kennebunk and Sweden, Maine, that uncertain economic circumstances and the impetus to be "modern" (as opposed to popular notions of the effect of the harsh winter climate) effectively combined to change the landscape of New England. These connected buildings, both modest and substantial, Hubka also maintains were constructed (and buildings often moved to reflect this tendency) with careful attention to such details as the location of specific yards (front, back, side, back, work) to avoid northern exposures. In addition, the author spends considerable time differentiating the various specializations that out buildings began to take, particularly from about 1850 to 1900. There is even a section on how farm kitchens changed after 1850 with the significant addition of the cook stove.

This is a valuable book since little has been previously written along these lines that can be found in one volume. Skeptics may argue on particular details, the use of evidence, the conclusions drawn or how reflective this book really is to the reality of 19th century rural New England life, but Hubka has made an important contribution to regional history with this pioneering study.

Copies are available at special discounts in the museum store at the Dr. Moses Mason House. For further details, please call the Bethel Historical Society at 824-2908.

CARD OF THANKS

I cannot find words adequate to express my appreciation and gratitude to all who remembered me with visits, cards, flowers, and other gifts. To the Bethel and Norway ambulances, to the doctors and nurses both at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway, and at Sandy River Nursing Home, Farmington, for the past 13 weeks. It is nice to be home again with help. It seems it takes a long time to get back to normal after a broken hip. Again my thanks.

A film, "And Those who Care," will be shown. The group is open to all those afflicted with multiple sclerosis, their families and interested persons. A whole documentary was then presented by Hugh Downs of 20/20 fame, discussing her highness, the moon and the way it has been proven by scientists to effect all our lives upon this planet Earth. As it controls the rise and fall of the tides that beat against our shorelines, it cannot be ignored as to its effects upon us. Its gravitational pull works upon our mental and physical bodies as well as that of the shoreline.

Nevertheless I marvel at its incessant beauty as awe inspiring, as she lifts her head, and peeps up over the inky ebony fir trees that define the uppermost peaks of the mountains to the left of us. Something inside starts to stir, my heart skips a beat, and I lay aside whatever I am doing, cast aside my worries for a moment and drink in the fullness of all her beauty.

A I catch my breath and call inside to share the sight with my beloved one, I indeed find a fresh reason for living and "moon watching" together only serves to make the ending of the day, to say the least, the topping on the cake, as it were.

And time rolls on! Peace!

Ms. Darlene Coriveau and family from Bath were guests of her parents, this weekend and hunted in the area.

Friday evening (past) there was an accident on the road below town here, involving a young woman. No other details were available, except the young lady had her doors locked which hampered the rescue operation.

There seem to be many hunters in the area but the only deer tagged have been three out of state fellows, who tagged three bucks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Loring were the guests of her daughter and family, the Richard Crosses and Kelsey, for Sunday dinner. Also in attendance were Mrs. Elsie Bryant of Bryant Pond, and Deborah and Jessica Cantelo of Westbrook.

Nancy Cross and daughter, Kelsey, and friend were visiting her mother, Mrs. Louise Loring, Friday.

There was a large turnout in Gilead for the elections last week. Out of 127 registered voters, 87 participated.

Louise Loring, Corres.

This past week we have experienced the joys of viewing the full moon. As it proceeded to rise in the east up over the mountain-tops of this little hamlet, there could be no doubt—that the street lights were not needed and only served to prove that the weaknesses of man made illumination could never compare with that of the creator in His infinite wisdom. The balmy unseasonable weather began to assert itself in mid-morning and continues until "Moon-Rising" time, and then the thermometer gears itself towards a plummeting downward plunge. As we lift the shades at daybreak we are then greeted by a hoary rime frost, thinly covering the picnic table and sparkling mischievously as the sun's rays, shimmer seductively, through the lacy shafts of the sumac bushes that separate our neighbor's yard from ours.

This November moon has been referred to by some as the "Hunter's Moon" but Cliff Michaelson of channel 8 TV weather prophesying fame has proclaimed it to be that of the "Beaver's Moon," and has left it for the love of either sport it seems to be correctly identified. Myself, in my own mind, prefer to refer to it as being a "Lover's Moon" being I suppose a good old diehard romanticist, by nature.

A whole documentary was then presented by Hugh Downs of 20/20 fame, discussing her highness, the moon and the way it has been proven by scientists to effect all our lives upon this planet Earth. As it controls the rise and fall of the tides that beat against our shorelines, it cannot be ignored as to its effects upon us. High St., West Paris

Sent in by Viva Whitman:

It's rather a wet and rainy day this Friday as I sit here typing this writing. It felt yesterday as though it could snow, but thank goodness, it is rain instead. I'm not one of the anxious ones to see snow yet. Next February would be soon enough for me, but expect the skiers wouldn't like it that way.

Had company last Saturday for lunch as we expected Peggy to come in home and Myrna and Bernard White were here to see when she came, also my daughter, Wynona and Courtney came to visit. We had looked for Peggy by moon time, but it was later before she got here so didn't have her company at the table, but enjoyed those we did have. Later in the afternoon, Peggy, Russell, Wynona, Courtney, Grace and I all went to the wedding of Edwidge Yates and Ruth Taylor at the Ledgewick Nursing Home. I didn't realize that they had such a nice hall down stairs where such events could take place. It was a very nice wedding and Courtney had a ball just seeing the other children there. She loves to be around babies and there were several there, also some about her age or size and she didn't miss any of them, or at least I don't think she did. It was hard to keep track of her as she didn't want any of the babies to cry without seeing what they were crying about.

The bridesmaids were dressed in blue as were the little flower girls and the best man and ushers were dressed in light blue suits. The bride in white really stood out and it was a pretty sight to see. Refreshments were served right there in the hall after the wedding and the wedding cake was beautiful. I didn't get to take a picture of that as I ran out of film, but hope some of those taking pictures got a good shot of it as it was so pretty. We wish the young married couple the best and a happy life together.

It has been busy around here as Alvin and Pat have been moving as they could and last Sunday, got things moved enough to stay at their new house. I hadn't been in to see it since the walls were put up until yesterday and what a lovely home it is now with all the walls in place and a few pictures hung. Pat said she didn't know as she would ever get things done, but, as any of us who have moved know, it takes some time to get things straightened out and where you want them to be. The view from up there is magnificent at any time of the year and they should be snug and warm, the way the home is built. We wish them the best in their new home and I'm sure they will enjoy the work they have done as time goes by. It is a really, lovely home and Pat has picked out such nice colors for the rooms. The girls have their own rooms, and that makes them happy to have them the color they wanted. The large patio or porch, whichever you want to call it is so large and nice that they could have a family picnic there and have room for all. I am glad I had a chance to go up and see their home and see all the difference it has made since before the walls were covered. As

Pat said, it makes some of the rooms look smaller than they thought they would, when planning the home, but they are large enough and with such a view, I would want to sit in the office or living room and just admire that. Don't know as I've said anything about their old dog getting her hip broken and having it operated on, but she doesn't act as though she was getting along as well as they had hoped. However, at the age of 13, that makes her rather old in human life, so one can't tell whether she will be strong enough to get over it or not.

Spent my forenoon in Harrison on Monday as usual and there are others who do the same thing. Rather a social gathering at the doctor's there when one goes for treatment. Went home and got lunch and later had to go to Norway again for gas to go to Bethel on Tuesday. Had to go see Dr. Shedd as my doctor still wasn't back in his office.

Called quite a few people around the neighborhood to see if they would be interested in coming to a housewares party on Thursday night and got a good response from most of them. Had 15 there at the trailer as Laura, who was the demonstrator, brought her daughter and Mary Cobb with her. Lorene, her daughter, also brought her new month-old son with her and he was a good boy as were Wynona's daughter, Courtney and Jane Coursey's little boy, Nathan.

Friday was wash day as usual, but I went alone as Russell wasn't feeling quite up to par. He had gone to the doctor for his check up the day before and got his flu shot. Whether it was a reaction from that or what, we don't know, but he got to feeling better later in the day. He seems to be all right this morning, so guess it wasn't too much, for which we are grateful.

We expect Peggy will be leaving for Florida in a day or two and will miss her, but at least, she got her camp moved and has had a chance to see how she likes the location and says she likes it. All so when Myrna and husband, Whitney get a chance to finish the shingling of the place with the new brown trim, it will look like a brand new home. Bryce got the picture window in, in the front of the camp and that lets her look out and see what is going on. Also, put a different window in on the side, and moved her furniture to give her more space in the center of the room, so she has a lot of rearranging to do and won't get it all done until she gets home in the Spring, but is real happy with what a difference it has made in the look of her home. Am sorry that Whitney hurt his back at work and has to be laid up for awhile, but hope it gets better soon. We have all had back trouble, so can know what he is going through. Get well soon, Whitney.

The weather report last night sounded as though the weekend might be a wet one and we need the rain, so maybe the wells will get the water they need to keep folks going during the winter. Hope so anyway and that all will go well during the winter for all.

Airman First Class Robert E. Hsley left Tuesday Nov. 13 for his new base in New York. Griffith A.F.B. He is glad to be nearer home. He is signed up for the welders' course. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Hsley, North Paris.

Upton

— Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres. —

It was startling to see as a front page feature on the "Grit" newspaper, a picture of an acquaintance. I had not seen him or his wife since I attended their wedding in June '38, so it was very interesting to read the article about them and their winning a "Grit" contest.

One new resident registered as a voter making a total of 68, 43 of these came to the library Tuesday to cast a ballot and five others had write-in ballots. Rose Scott and Arlene Bernier served as ballot clerks.

We are frequently threatened with a forecast of snow but so far the weather has warmed enough so the moisture is in the form of rain.

Lots of folks including Walt Lumbard occupied their part-time home in Upton over the long week end. The hunting is very poor as well as hunting conditions.

The school children had a long week end as the schools were closed Friday last week and Monday of this week.

Armand Lavallee was a patient in the Berlin, N. H. hospital for a few weeks. Simmone, his wife, brought him home this week with a machine to help his breathing. He is rather weak, but able to sit up for short periods.

North Paris

— Evelline B. Vatcher, Corres. —

The long holiday weekend was rainy, foggy and dreary except for a bit of sunshine Sunday morning. Not good hunting weather, but the rain is needed badly before the ground freezes.

The weather was beautiful for election day and the polls had good turnouts. I am glad that the ERA was voted down. It may be alright in some ways, but not in all ways, and it should not be voted on again for many years.

Doris Lawrence and Rhoda Vatcher went to the Senior Citizens' meeting Nov. 6 at the West Paris Legion hall. The delicious Thanksgiving dinner was served by the Ledgewick Nursing Home Auxiliary.

Robert Anderson Sr. of Burlington, Mass., and Mike Fucarle, Woburn, Mass., returned to their homes Saturday morning, Nov. 10. Mike shot a red squirrel, Robert a hedgehog, and Joe Vatcher got a skunk. What a variety for a soup.

Callers at Lawrences: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Arlene Abbott, Alice Goff, Joe Vatcher, Arnold Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr., Mione Records, Robert Anderson Sr., and Mike Fucarle.

Monday, Nov. 12, Mr. and Mrs. "Root" Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Record and Mrs. Helen Emery went to a restaurant in Gray to celebrate Helen's 86th birthday.

Joe Vatcher and Robert Hsley went rabbit hunting Thursday morning and the lady dog Trixie came home alone at 4 p.m. The men looked around where they thought the dogs had been but no luck. Saturday morning when Joe went to the clothesline, Benji stuck his head out the shed door. His right front paw had been in a trap. No bones broken but cut in two places and very swollen. As I write these items he can walk on it some. Evidently some one didn't tend their traps Friday morning.

CARD OF THANKS

Sincere thanks to my family and many friends for the flowers, cards and gifts I received during my stay in the hospital. It has all been greatly appreciated.

COMMUNITY WATER FLUORIDATION AWARDS

Department of Human Services Commissioner Michael R. Petit announced recently that the Bethel Water District in Bethel has been given a Community Fluoridation Proficiency Award. The award is presented to Maine communities which have maintained fluoride concentration consistently within the optimum range over the entire six month period beginning Jan. 1, 1984. Of the 61 fluoridated Maine water utilities, Bethel Water District in Bethel is one of the 21 to receive this recognition.

It has been proven that consumption of optimally fluoridated water from birth reduced dental decay as much as 70%. Fluoride concentrations must be maintained at adequate levels or benefits decrease significantly.

The awards are presented semi-annually to encourage water utilities to maintain adequate fluoride levels.

M.S.A.D. #44 BOARD MEETS

Another disciplinary case was postponed to enable the parents of the student to retain legal counsel.

The board also decided to send a letter to two families with six children in district grade schools because the children have been habitually absent from school. The letter will inform the parents that if they don't perform their responsibilities of getting their children to school, the board will prosecute them in district court.

On non-disciplinary matters, the board appointed the following coaches for winter sports: at Telstar Regional High School, Alan Remington as alpine ski coach; at Telstar Middle School, Charles Raymond as assistant boys' basketball coach, Judy Brown as head girls' basketball coach, Kelly Scott as assistant girls' basketball coach, Tim Kavanagh as alpine ski coach, Levi Brown as nordic ski coach, and Donna Lunney as winter cheering coach. The position of assistant girls' basketball coach and winter cheering coach at the high school were not filled and will be re-advertised.

The board appointed Maryetta Hemingway as special education instructional aide for Crescent Park School/Ethel Bisbee School, and authorized additional pay of $850 for Jolene Shimamura for her extra duties as part-time special education teacher at Ethel Bisbee School.

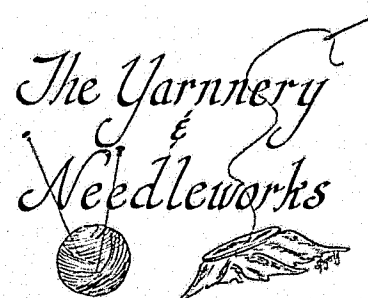

The board accepted a bid by George Haines of $310 for a Rockwell saw and a bid of $176.10 from Floyd Keniston for a DeWalt saw. There was a total of eight bids for the two surplus saws.

The board decided to apply to the state for the purchase of two buses; one a 66 passenger, and the other a 72 passenger. If approved, the state will reimburse the district for the cost of the new vehicles. The district has 28 vehicles in service. The two buses in question would replace older units.

THE TELSTAR MARCHING BAND

under the direction of Harry Davis, played at the Veterans

Day ceremonies at the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post home, Locke Mills, Sunday. Because of the heavy rain, the marching band didn't march, but provided lots of music indoors.

Teachers at the elementary schools will be given four half-days off from teaching, the directors decided. During this re-leased-time, the teachers are to participate in a state-mandated self-evaluation program in which administrators and staff rate their individual schools.

The board approved an extended leave of absence without pay for Donald Hebert, business education teacher at TRHS. Requested by Mr. Hebert for personal reasons, the leave of 45 school days duration, will commence on Jan. 2, 1985.

Youngsters who normally walk to and from Crescent Park School will soon be bussed to drop-off points in town. Superintendent Dewaine Craig said he is concerned that there will be little room for walking on the streets from school once snowbanks start to pile up. Students will still be allowed to walk to school, however.

Because of all the disciplinary matters, the meeting did not end until 11:25 p.m. All board members were present except Sylvia Cross of Greenwood. The next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 26, 7:30 p.m., in the Telstar library.
